45 (INDEPENDENT + AGENDA) People ask me, what do you think about Trump? Honestly, I have my reservations. I object to his vulgarity, particularly toward women and gold star families, and I disagree with many of his proposals, including his plan to ban Muslims. But I certainly don't trust Hillary Clinton. For me, country comes first. So if Donald Trump becomes president, I'll stand up to him. And if Hillary Clinton wins, I'll hold her accountable. I'll fight for limited government, individual freedom, a strong national defense and free-market economy that works for you.	22	31	16	29	3	53	68	44

49 (PARTY OF TRUMP) Donald Trump is running a campaign pitting Americans against each other and pushing ideas that threaten our country's security but Republican candidates are still supporting him. The things Trump says about immigrants, women, minorities and veterans are un-American and his ideas about national security are dangerous. But Republican candidates are still supporting him. When they refuse to stand up to him, they are putting their party over our country. If they allowed Donald Trump to become their party's standard bearer, what does that say about their standards?	33	17	9	40	2	49	59	49

50 (CLINTON AGENDA) We need to make our economy work for everyone, not just the rich and well-connected. Too many CEOs move jobs overseas and use lobbyists to win the day. Democrats have a plan to rewrite the rules of the economy that limits the role of big money in politics. The wealthy must pay their fair share of taxes. And it provides affordable childcare, equal pay for women, making college affordable, and large infrastructure investments to create jobs. But if we want to get these things done, we need a Democratic majority in Congress.	29	21	11	39	1	50	61	49
